

Emirates to recover 90% of its pre-pandemic network during summer

- A Monitor Desk Report

Date: 19 June, 2021

Dubai: Emirates is ramping up its operations and expanding services across its network to meet strong leisure travel demand over the summer, as entry restrictions ease for travelers.

Today, Emirates serves 115 global passenger destinations, and by the end of July, it will have recovered close to 90% of its pre-pandemic network, operating 880 weekly services across 124 cities.

The airline will resume services to seven cities in July including Venice on 1 July; Phuket, Nice, Orlando, and Mexico City on 2 July; Lyon on 9 July, and Malta on 14 July. Emirates will also launch flights to Florida's second largest city and one of the world's most popular holiday spots, Miami, starting 22 July.

Besides, Emirates will be adding frequencies to 12 cities across Europe, Africa, and North America as more destinations re-open for international visitors and offer quarantine free travel.

Emirates will also boost its A380 network this summer, bringing its flagship experience to 15 cities on 129 weekly services.

Emirates customers, when flying out of Dubai can take advantage of contactless technology at nearly every step of their journey for an added layer of safety. The airline will also be boosting its digital verification capabilities, providing its customers even more opportunities to utilize the IATA Travel Pass this summer.
